

Minh Dang, Member, U.S. Advisory Council on Human Trafficking

Minh Dang, MSW is an independent consultant, trainer, and speaker on issues of human trafficking, leadership development, and social justice. She provides training and technical assistance to NGOs, Universities, and government agencies across the country. Minh is a staunch advocate for survivors of child abuse and human trafficking and is developing strategies to support education, training, and leadership development for survivors. As her daytime job, she works as a Team Manager at The Linde Group, an IT consulting firm in Emeryville, CA. Most recently, in December 2015, Minh was appointed by President Obama to serve on the first ever U.S. Advisory Council to End Human Trafficking. Minh is also serving as the Co-Principal Investigator in a peer-led, community-based research project to evaluate two anti-trafficking task forces in San Francisco, CA.
